The summer breezes sigh and surge Without the door; Within, the echoes wail a dirge-" No more-no more !

No more-no more! She was the light, the joy, the life, The soul of all: The tenderest mother, truest wife! There came a call At noonday-and she passed away ! She smiled to soar! Our breaking hearts could bid her stay

No more-no more! Searching for one in Paradise, With troubled steps, A babe, with eager, asking eyes, And tremulous lips, Goes tottering to the well-known room

No more-no more!

And tries the door; Poor little prattler! she will come No more-no more!

No more-no more! The Evening Star looks down upon A single grave; All day between it and the Sun Home-shadows wave;

Even in death she could not leave Her loved before; Why will she comfort when they grieve No more-no more?

No more? no more? Oh heart! he still! it is not thus! It cannot be! Heaven could not keep her back from us! Eternity

Will tell how gently to her home She came before: Oh, home in heaven! where change can come No more-no more !

"Forevermore!" Hush! for a harp on high has caught The dying dirge-Turning it to a triumph-shout, Whose echoes surge High o'er the " Alleluiah " swell

Of glory's shore!

Forevermore!" [From the National Ern.] Our Minister's Second Wife.

BY MARY IRVING.

"God! in thy smile 'it shall be well'

[CONTINUED.] "I shall form no opinion of the second Mrs Young," said Mrs. Ray, freezingly. "I would not wish to say anything to the prejudice of a minister's wife, whatever her faults may be." This speech was delivered with an air of sublime impartiality, somewhat counteracted by the sarcastic curl of the lips which uttered

"Hem! well, folks will make up their own minds, and you can't help it! I must be jog-ging. Good day!" and with a shuffle of el-bow, feet, and head, she took herself out of the "Well, really!" soliloquized cheerful little Miss Polly, after the door had banged. "It's the queerest thing I've heard this many a day. I wonder how old she is."

"You'll know soon enough," shortly replied Mrs. Ray, who stood in no great awe of the penetrating powers of her present company.

"And a Southerner, too," went on Polly. "I hope—may-be she won't bring her slaves, will she?" she said, in a tone of inquiry.

"Nobody knows!" returned Mrs. Ray, stitching with tremendous vehemence at the pillow-case she was making. "We shall have to put up with her, whatever she does, that's certain!" said she, biting her lip in suppressed mortification and vexation. "Well, now, that's the way I reason," said the charitable little spinster, in a pleased tone. You see, we must make allowance for her bringing up, and her being used to all sorts of outlandish ways. Maybe she's no ways worse than many another might be, after all. I hope she's a good, pious woman. You don't suppose the minister would fetch us a right dressy creature, like what they say of the Southerners, do

"I cannot answer for any freak Mr. Young may have taken into his head! He has changed his views, that is very certain," she replied, emphatically. "Not that it concerns me in the least, my dear; for you very well know I meddle with nobody's business but my own. Live and let live, is my motto. But when a man once gets flighty, there is no telling what he may do; and Mr. Young has sometimes been called—well I won't say anything to his dis-advantage. I hope he has found a suitable help-meet!" said she, formally, straightening herself up in the consciousness that he might nd one much more suitable, without having journeyed so far.

Aunt 'Liph, meanwhile, was going her round, spinning out the news, and interspersing it with various remarks upon the Widow Ray's vexation in receiving it.

"And it's my mind," said she, "the Widder Ray was dead in love with the parson, and thought to catch him for herself; and she half-a-dozen years older than he, too! Well, well; if worst comes to worst, I'd about as lief of San Juan de Ulloa. Thanks be to our distinbe lorded over by a stranger, as by that proud guished and skilful general—to his brave officers woman of a widder! But there aint nobody and men—to the gallant officers and men of our going to tread upon me!"

The villagers listened, exclaimed, and wondered. Some blamed; a few smiled approv-ingly. But most seemed to hold their judgment suspended, in intense curiosity. Several omen, headed by Mrs. Ray and Mrs. Deacon Johnson, formed a "bee" to clean up the house. Others brought substantials for the bride's pantry—bread, dough-nuts, butter, cheese, and the like. Their husbands stowed barrels of beef, pork, and flour, in the cellar. One, a quiet, lady-like invalid personage, who seldom crossed her own threshold, ventured out, on a damp morning, too, to arrange the "bride's chamber." This had been left to her, by common consent; for everybody, except Mrs. Ray, was accustomed to think and except Mrs. Ray, was accustomed to think and say, "Nobody has such tasty ways as Mrs. Seba Stephens!" Really, the bride-chamber did look "tasty," in its drapery of pure white, festooned with evergreens from the woods, and myrtle from Mrs. Stephens's house boxes; for not a flower was up in the gardens. A white satin toilet-cushion was laid on the whiter dimity cover of the dressing-table; and a wreath of artificial orange flowers—Mrs. Stephens's own wedding wreath—fastened the blonde veil of the little mirror in its place. There seemed to be a general wish that the minister's new wife should think well of everybody, whatever everybody might choose to think of her.

TTO BE CONTINUED. Beware of little expenses: a small leak will

Such were the preparations made in our vil-lage for "our minister's second wife."

THE WHIG PLATFORM.

The Whigs of the United States, in Convention assembled, firmly adhering to the great conserva-tive republican principles by which they are con-trolled and governed, and now, as ever, relying upon the intelligence of the American people, with an abiding confidence in their capacity for self-government and their continued devotion to the constitution and the Union, do proclaim the following as the political sentiments and determinafor the establishment and maintenance of which their national organization as a party is effected:

1. The government of the United States is of a limited character, and it is confined to the exa limited character, and it is confined to the exercise of powers expressly granted by the constitution, and such as may be necessary and proper for carrying the granted powers into full execution; and that all powers not thus granted or necessarily implied are expressly reserved to the States, respectively, and to the people.

2. The State governments should be held secure in their reserved rights, and the general government sustained in its constitutional powers.

ernment sustained in its constitutional powers, and the Union should be revered and watched over as "the palladium of our liberties."

3. That, while struggling freedom everywhere enlists the warmest sympathy of the Whig party, we still adhere to the doctrines of the Father of his Country, as announced in his Farewell Address of keeping ourselves free from all entangements. dress, of keeping ourselves free from all entangling alliances with foreign countries, and of never quitting our own to stand upon foreign That our mission as a republic is not to propagate our opinions, or impose on other countries our form of government by artifice or force, but to teach by example, and show, by our success, moderation, and justice, the blessings of self-government and the advantages of free in-

4. That where the people make and control the government, they should obey its constitution, laws, and treaties, as they would retain their selfrespect and the respect which they claim and will enforce from foreign powers.

5. Government should be conducted upon principles of the strictest economy, and revenue sufficient for the expenses thereof, in time of peace, ought to be mainly derived from 'a duty on im ports, and not from direct taxes; and in levying such duties, sound policy requires a just discrimination, and protection from fraud by specific du-ties when practicable, whereby suitable encour-agement may be assured to American industry, equally to all classes and to all portions of the

6. The constitution vests in Congress the power to open and repair harbors, and remove obstruc-tions from navigable rivers; and it is expedient that Congress should exercise that power, whenever such improvements are necessary for the common defence, or for the protection and facility of commerce with foreign nations or among the States; such improvements being, in every in-stance, national and general in their character. 7. The federal and State governments are parts of one system, alike necessary for the common prosperity, peace, and security, and ought to be regarded alike with a cordial, habitual, and immovable attachment. Respect for the authority of each, and acquiescence in the constitu-tional measures of each, are duties required by the plainest considerations of national, of State and of individual welfare.

8. The series of acts of the 31st Congress com monly known as the Compromise or Adjustment (the act for the recovery of fugitives from labor included) are received and acquiesced in by the Whigs of the United States as a final settlement, in principle and substance, of the subjects to which they relate; and, so far as these acts are concerned, we will maintain them, and insist on their strict enforcement, until time and experience shall demonstrate the necessity of fur-ther legislation, to guard against the evasion of the laws on the one hand, and the abuse of their powers on the other-not impairing their present efficiency to carry out the requirements of the constitution; and we deprecate all further agita-tion of the questions thus settled, as dangerous to our peace, and will discountenance all efforts to continue or renew such agitation, whenever, wherever, or however made; and we will main-tain this settlement as essential to the nationality of the Whig party and the integrity of the Union.

Who is Winfield Scott? What has He done to merit Our Grati-

These questions have been thus answered: At the age of twenty-one, and in the summer of 1807, he volunteered into a troop of Virginia

In 1812 he fought the battle of Queenstown Heights.

In 1813 he was the instrument of saving our Irish citizens, taken in arms against the British, from the savage penalties of the English law of onstructive treason.

In the same year he fought, as Colonel, in the battle of Fort George.
In 1814 he made a new army and restored the military spirit of the country—took Fort Erie-fought the battle of Chippewa—and fought the good fight of Lundy's Lane.

In 1832 he won the proud title of the "Hero of Humanity," by nursing the sick and dying troops of his army, upon which the Asiatic cholera fell blightingly, on its march to the field of the Black Hawk war.

In the same year, by negotiation, and not by force of arms, he brought the Black Hawk war to a just and favorable issue.

In the same year he soothed the spirit of Southern Nullification, and saved our country from civil discord. In 1836 he served against the Seminole Indians in Florida.

In 1837, with admirable energy and tact, and without troops, he calmed the patriot disturbances upon our extended Northern frontier. In the same year he effected the removal of the Cherokees, in a manner that won the gratitude of the noble tribe and the admiration of his whole country.

In 1839 he carned the distinguished title of "The Pacificator of the Northeastern Boundary," and saved his country from a bloody and wasteful war with Great Britain.

In 1847 he opened the splendid military drama of the second conquest of Mexico, by reducing the city of Vera Cruz and the impregnable Castle of San Juan d'Ulloa after an active siege of but four days.

April the 8th, he fought and won the admirable battle of Cerro Gordo, and opened to the Americans the path to the dominion of the entire Western Continent. On the 19th of April he entered the city of Jalapa.

On the 22d of April, he occupied Perote.
On the 15th of May, he took Puebla.
On the 20th of August, he won the three great victories of Contreras, San Antonio, and Churu

On the 8th of September, he fought and won the brilliant battle of Molino del Rey.
On the 13th of September, he carried by storm the terrible Heights and Fortress of Chepultepec -scattered the Mexican army from the gates of Belen and Sar Cosume, and made a lodgment in the capital of Mexico.

On the 14th of September, he marched his ar my of heroes, scarce six thousand men, into the halls of the Montezumas, and broke the Spanish dominion in America.

Who is Franklin Pierce !-What has He done?

Franklin Pierce was born in 1804, at Hillsborough, N. H., and graduated at Bowdoin College, Maine-studied law, and commenced practice in Hillsborough county. He was elected to the legislature of his State, and shortly after chosen speaker of the House.

In 1834 he was elected to the lower House of Congress, in which body he served until 1838, at which period he became a Senator of the United States, and served till 1842-3. He resigned his seat in the Senate and returned to the practice of law in 1843.

In 1845 he was nominated for governor of the State, but declined. President Polk offered him the Attorney Generalship, which he also declined. In 1848 he was appointed a Colonel in the ten regiments raised for the service of the United States in Mexico. Subsequently, he was made Brigadier General. He performed no achieve ment of note during the war, nor has he ever done so in any position, civil or military.

CHERRY PECTORAL For the rapid Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

CONSUMPTION.

TO CURE A COLD, WITH HEADACHE AND SORENESS OF THE BODY, take the Cherry Pecrorat or going to bed, and wrap up warm, to sweat during the night.

FOR A COLD AND COUGH, take it morning, noon, and evening, according to directions on the bottle, and the difficulty will soon be removed. None will long suffer from this trouble when they find it can be so readily curred. Persons afflicted with a seated cough, which breaks them of their rest at night, will find, by taking the Cherry Personal on going to bed, they may be sure of sound, unbroken sleep, and consequently refreshing rest. Great relief from suffering, and an ultimate cure. is afforded to thousands who are thus afflicted, by this invaluable remedy.

From its agreeable effect in these cases, many find themselves unwilling to forego its use when the necessity for it has ceased.

Ans ceased.

From two eminent Physicians in FATERTSVILE, TENN.: April 16, 1851.

SIR: We have given your CHERRY PECTORAL an extensive trial in our practice, and find it to surpass every other removed we have for curing affections of the respiratory organs.

DRS. DIEMER & HAMPTON.

TO SINGERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS this remedy is invaluable, as by its action on the throat and lungs, when taken in small quantities, it removes all hoarseness in a few hours, and wonderfully increases the power and flexibility of the voice.

ASTHMA is generally much relieved, and often wholly ASTHMA is generally much relieved, and often wholly cured, by CHERRY PECTORAL; but there are some cases so obstituate as to yield entirely to no medicine. CHERRY PECTORAL will cure them, if they can be cured.

BRONCHITIS, or irritation of the throat and upper portion of the lungs, may be cured by taking CHERRY PECTORAL in small and frequent doses. The uncomfortable oppression is soon relieved.

Rev. Doctor LANSING. of BRONKLYN, New York, states:

"I have seen the CHERRY PECTORAL cure such cases of Asthma and Bronchitis as lead me to believe it can rurely fail to cure those diseases."

FOR CROUP.—Give an emetic of antimony, to be followed by large and frequent doses of the CHERRY PECTORAL, until it subdues the disease. If taken in season, it will not fail to ure. WHOOPING-COUGH may be broken up and soon cured by the use of Cherry Perforal.

THE INFLUENZA is speedily removed by this remedy.

Numerous instances have been noticed where whole families were protected from any serious consequences, while their neighbors, without the Cherry Pectoral, were suffering SALEM, OHIO, 11th June, 1851.

from the disease.

SALEM, OHIO, 11th June, 1851.

Doctor J. C. AYER: I write to inform you of the truly remarkable effects of your CHERRY PECTORAL in this place, and in my own family. One of my daughters was completely cured in three days of a dreadful Whoddiscured by taking it. Dr. Means, one of our very best physicians, freely states that he considers it the best remedy we have for pulmonary diseases, and that he has cured more cases of CROUP with it than any other medicine he ever administered. Our clergyman of the Baptist church says that during the run of INFLUENZA here this season, he has seen cures from your medicine he could scarcely have believed without Yours, respectfully,

J. D. SINCLAIR, Deputy Postmaster.

Medica, Bowdoin College.

I have found the Cheret Pectoral, as its ingredients show, a powerful remedy for colds, and coughs, and pulmonary diseases. PARKER CLEVELAND, M. D.
BRUNSWICE, ME., February 5, 1847.

DR. VALENTINE MOTT, The widely-celebrated Professor of Surgery in the Medical Oblege, New York city, says:

"It gives me pleasure to certify the value and efficacy of 'Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,' which (consider peculiarly adapted to cure diseases of the Throat and Lungs."

Cures of severo diseases upon the Lungs have been effected by CHERRY PECTORAL in such extreme cases as warrant the belief that a remedy has at length been found that can be depended on to cure the Coughs, Colds, and Consumption which carry from our midst thousands every year. It is indeed a medicine to which the afflicted can look with confidence for relief, and they should not fail to avail themselves of it.

Protection from Lightning.

THE undersigned, being the duly appointed Agent of SPRART'S ELECTRICAN AND ELECTROMETALLUSORS LEGITATION. AND MANUFACTOR. COVINGTON, KENTUCKY, begg to offer these superior Rods, of Spiral-twisted, Carbonized Annualed Iron, with Zinc Protectors, and Electro-positive elements combined in their manufacture; thus rendering them equal to copper as conductors. They are in ten-feet lengths, with accurately-fitted brass-screw connecting joints, an entire new style of metallic (patented) attachments, for brick or frame buildings; also, glass isolaters, of a novel and ingenious construction, (patented,) forming a lock; the whole mounted with a solid platinum silver point, (patented,) twelve inches long, surrounded at the base with three angular negative magnets, which possess the power, to an extraordinary extent, of discharging the opposite elements of the most fearful thunderstorm, and embrace the entire perfection of science up to the present time; the whole constituting the most magnificent and perfect silent conductor ever presented to the public.

Safety has not been compromised by affording these excellent rods at such low rates; the greatest attention has been given to their construction, so as to be readily attached. The astonishing power of the negative magnets, in discharging the air of its opposite elements, has been clearly demonstrated by the Electrometer, when unmagnetized points have shown but slight results, though placed under the same conditions. In fact, they gather and silently discharge electricity from the atmosphere when you would scarcely suspect any being present.

These improvements being secured by double letters patent, you are hereby cautioned against laying yourselves liable, by purchasing of those who are not authorized, or who are substituting inferior imitations. All agents duly appointed can show their certificates. Have good rods or none.

CHARLES W. HEYDON,

I do hereby certify that I have app lied various powerful chemical re-agents to Spratt's Patent Points for Lightning-Rods, and that the results of these experiments convince me that they will resist the action of atmospheric causes, and that they will resist the action of atmospheric causes, and thereby preserve the extremity sharp—a condition most es-sential to protection against lightning. The re-agents used in the above experiments were a solution of chloride of so-dium, (common salt,) acetic acid, sulphuric acid, and hydro-chloric acid. With the first, there was no action on the metal; with the several acids, there was very slight—a fact sufficient to show that atmospheric influences would have no sensible effect. no sensible effect.

JOHN LECONTE, Prof. of Nat. Phil. et Chem.
UNIVERSITY OF GA., October 8, 1850.

The Lightning Conductors of Mr. Spratt, offered to me, are well estelulated to perform the office for which they are intended. Yours, truly, Prof. ROBT. PETER. LEXINGTON, KY., February 20, 1850.

LEXINGTON, KY., February 20, 1850.

CHICAGO, September 3, 1850.

This may certify that I have examined, somewhat critically, James Spratt's Patent Lightning Rods, and that I am of opinion that it is constructed on scientific principles. For combining durability, cheapness, and efficacy, I deem it equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

equal, and I think superior, to any other rod ever offered for my inspection.

Prof. JAS. V. Z. BLANEY.

AUGUSTA, (GA.) November 11, 1850.

This will certify that I have examined the Lightning Rods, Metallic Points, and Isolating Attachments, manufactured by Mr. Spratt, and regard them as constructed in conformity to the general laws of the electric fluid; and the metallic compound constituting the Points, as promising, from the result of several tests to which they were submitted, to resist for years the action of those atmospheric causes most likely to corrode them.

A. MEANS, Prof. Phys. Sc., Emory College, Ga., and Prof. Chem. and Pharm., Medical College, Ga.

The Lightning Conductors put up by Mr. Henry M. Smith, of this city, on the plan of Mr. Spratt, appear to me to be very well devised; and, in point of mechanical construction, are the best 1 have ever seen.

It is to be hoped that the use of these Rods may become general, as an important auxiliary defence against a danger

It is to be hoped that the use of these Rods may become general, as an important auxiliary defence against a danger which must be regarded as of no ordinary magnitude, to which all buildings are liable.
